Overview

PolyComp's new series of Petrol Displays have been designed with all services available at a fuel station in mind.

Not only can our displays indicate petrol and diesel prices as well as display various other messages such as convenience store specials and other notices; as well as graphics and adverts.

These LED displays can be either mono-colour, bi-colour or full colour.

Gone are the days of boring single colour electronic displays, our new generation displays can display your information in many of the following colours:

- Cyan
- Magenta
- Yellow
- White
- Red
- Blue
- Green

Communication Options

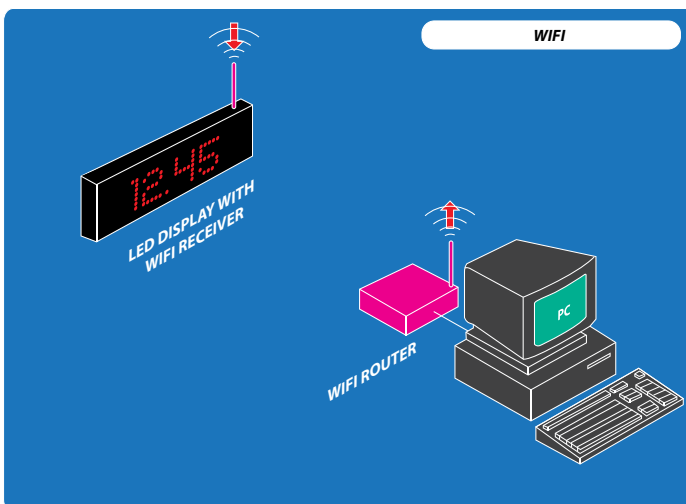

- Programming your display can be done easily and effortlessly simply by the following options:

Update messages/petrol prices display/s remotely from your laptop.

Update Petrol Prices using a hand-held, Wireless LCD keypad

- The new generation of “RGBT” Displays are the most convenient way to display petrol prices as well as display general messages, such as specials, additional services available at the petrol station, time & temperature.
- They can display text message, graphics, simple animations etc as well.
- The display unit/s can be controlled by PolyComp Microprocessor based controllers (no PC for which is then required)
- To download messages you can use our generic software called “Display Commander” enabling you to update from the convenience of your store, change any time by radio link, or use an LCD Keypad to change the prices only
- Other communication options are also available such as wifi, TCP/IP, GSM Modem etc
- Can be done nationally by using PolyComp developed program that can change prices in certain regions easily from one central point.
- PolyComp is a South African based manufacturing and development company. Founded since 1985, supplying all major clients through out, into Africa and even international exports.
- For top quality lovally manufactured and custom designed LED display solutions.
